

Recommendation Letter 1

APPLICANT APP-007 | SOURCE RECORD 22

RECOMMENDATION LETTER

Applicant	APP-007
Recommender role	Spanish Teacher
Relationship note	Both teachers have had the student in class for over 2 years.
Submission status	Confidential synthetic recommendation

To the Admissions Committee: I am pleased to recommend Applicant APP-007. In my role as Spanish Teacher, I have worked with this student in an academic setting and have observed a consistent willingness to prepare carefully, participate in discussion, and revise work after receiving feedback. Both teachers have had the student in class for over 2 years.

The applicant's academic record, including a reported unweighted GPA of 4.0, reflects sustained effort rather than a single strong term. In class, the student approaches complex assignments by first identifying what is known, separating the problem into manageable parts, and checking conclusions against the available evidence. This habit is especially relevant to the applicant's interest in Biomedical Engineering, where careful reasoning and clear explanation are equally important.

One example occurred during a multi-stage project that required students to interpret several sources and present a defensible conclusion. Applicant APP-007 created a shared outline, asked classmates to identify gaps in the evidence, and revised the final presentation when an early assumption proved incomplete. The final product was strong, but the more important result was the student's ability to treat correction as part of the work rather than as a setback.

Outside the classroom, the student has also invested time in Band. The applicant does not treat participation as a line on a resume. Instead, the student follows through on routine responsibilities, notices when another person needs clarification, and contributes practical suggestions when a group is stalled. Those habits have made the applicant a dependable peer.

The student communicates with maturity. Questions are specific, requests for help are made early enough to be useful, and disagreement is handled respectfully. I have also seen the applicant balance multiple deadlines by planning ahead and communicating when circumstances change. These are ordinary behaviors, but they are the behaviors that allow students to succeed in demanding college environments.

I believe Applicant APP-007 is prepared to contribute to Riverview State University as a serious learner and collaborative classmate. I recommend the applicant with confidence and expect the student to bring curiosity, persistence, and responsible judgment to the study of Biomedical Engineering.

Recommendation Letter 1

APPLICANT APP-007 | SOURCE RECORD 22

Sincerely,
Spanish Teacher
Synthetic Secondary School